

50 Diller Ave.
Newton, NJ

$275,000

Now is your chance to own a piece of Newton history! Introducing to the market for the first time since 2001, this 3-bed, 1 1/2-bath single family home was the Newton Fire Department's Diller Ave. Hose Co. #3. Built in 1902 so that there was a firehouse that supported the H.W. Merriam Shoe Company and that part of town, this property boasts much of the original features like the brick exterior, slate roof, hardwood floors, wood molding and trim, and high ceilings. The foundation for the water tower still exists in the lovely garden in the back. 115 years later, this property has character and charm, and remains an important part of Newton's history.
